The screenshot displays the AOTRAUMA website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'Education', 'Research', 'Community', and 'About' tabs, and a 'Login' button. The main content area is titled 'AO Trauma Course—Basic Principles of Fracture Management' and includes the following sections:

- Location: Guadalajara, Jalisco, Mexico (18 Jul 2018 - 21 Jul 2018). Includes a 'Download vCalendar file' link.
- Quick access: A dropdown menu with the text 'Select item here...'.
- Description: A paragraph explaining the course's focus on fracture management for orthopedists and students, and a list of learning objectives.
- Learning objectives: A bulleted list of goals, such as discussing stability concepts, planning treatment, and applying reduction techniques.
- Contributors: Lists Arnulfo Hernandez Acocer as the Chairperson and Napoleon Mejia Gonzalez as the Co-chairperson, with links to 'View all' and 'View conflicts of interest'.
- Details: A table of course metadata including ID (GUADALAJARA201807), Type (AO Trauma / AO partner event), Level (Basic Principles), Region (Latin America), Language(s) (Spanish), Scope (Regional), Academic status (Non-peer reviewed), Format (Course), Content (Artificial bone practicals, Debates, Discussion groups, Lectures), and Target audience (Orthopaedic surgery, Trauma surgery).
- Registration: A table showing registration details: 'For participants from' (Latin America), 'Closing date' (18 Jul 2018), 'Status' (open), 'Places' (44), 'Available places' (1), 'Online registration' (Click here to register), and 'Cancellation policy' (50% until 30 days before the event).
